CLAIM MORGAN WAS HELD ON HEARSAY EVIDENCE

Attorneys for Man Accused of Double Murder Make Determined Fight in His Behalf Before Coroner's Jury This Afternoon.

Claiming that Will G. Morgan was held on a murder charge purely on "hearsay," counsel for the defendant made a determined effort to have him liberated before the coroner's jury at its investigation this afternoon in the county court's room in the court house.

Both of Morgan's attorneys, Hon. M. M. Neely and Charles Powell, made addresses to the members of the jury along this strain.

W. R. Haggerty, prosecuting attorney, contended that this was not the place for Morgan's defense, and that it was up to commonwealth only to establish the death.

The trend of the commonwealth's testimony showed that effort was being made to locate the shots and show that they came from the direction of the Morgan farm.

The inquest was conducted by Frank A. Lloyd, the coroner. The members of the jury are: G. H. Richardson, J. L. Buchinal, C. H. Snider, W. H. Roush, Arthur Frey and Frank Pepper.

The first witness called was Charles Musgrave, who resides near Riversville. He testified that he accompanied Harvey Hayhurst, Andrew Thorne and others on a fox hunting trip to the Morgan farm. He described the trip and thought of the firing of the shots. He thought that the first shot had struck him. Musgrave testified that Harvey Hayhurst was standing behind Musgrave and the fire that had been killed by the fox hunters. Andrew Thorne, Musgrave testified, was standing a few feet below the fire.

Musgrave said that he saw no one with a gun in that section. Musgrave placed the time of the shooting at about 9:40 o'clock on the night of September 15. The witness testified that James Hayhurst, who had accompanied the fox hunters, was not struck by any of the shots.

The second witness called was Richard B. Arnett, of near Riversville. He told of his being with the party.

Dr. George Yost, of Riversville, said he was summoned to attend the injured man on the night of the murder about 10 o'clock. He was informed that "fox hunters had been shot." He attended Musgrave, who was shot in the right ear and neck. Dr. Yost at length described the character of the wounds. The two men who were most seriously shot—Hayhurst and Thorne—were started for the miners' hospital.

John Knight, who lives in the vicinity of W. G. Morgan's farm, testified that in the early part of the evening he saw W. G. Morgan and Walter Conutte at the Morgan farm and talked with them. William Keyser accompanied John Knight to the Keyser home. This was between 9:15 and 9:30 o'clock in the evening. He heard a shot during the evening.

A. M. Glover, sheriff of Marion county, was called as the next witness. He Riversville for a shooting scrape. The point where the shooting occurred was in a field along the river, opposite Murray. There was a cherry tree near to the place where the fox hunters and kindred the fire. Three empty shells were found. Two of the 10 gauge shells with red paper in them were found close together.

A 12 gauge gun with a yellow paper cover was found near by. The 10 gauge shell was found closest to the fire.

In conversation with Walter Conutte First M. E. W. F. M. S. To Meet Tomorrow

The Women's Foreign Missionary society of the First M. E. church will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 in the church parlors.

R. Hall, secretary of literature; On Inventory of Our Stock, Mrs. Lee Hall, treasurer; A Look into the Future, Mrs. Levi B. Harr, president; story, Little Johnstone, Quilt, Mrs. Will Reynolds, second vice president; song, The Jubilee Hymn, Zion Haste. Adjournment for social half hour and tea served by the hostesses, Mrs. W. E. Arnett and Mrs. E. W. Howard.

DAY OF ATONEMENT BEGINS TOMORROW

Yom Kippur Is the Holiest Day in the Jewish Calendar

At the setting of the sun tomorrow, September 25, Jewry everywhere will begin the twenty-four hours observance of the holiest day in their religious calendar. Yom Kippur (Day of Atonement) is the great Fast of Israel, for Orthodox and Reform alike, who follow the throb of Israel's historical consciousness. It is Israel's Sabbath of Sabbaths, and it has a firm hold on the Jew because its noble poetry appeals to his soul, and gives voice to his faith.

The fundamental concepts of the Atonement are: Sin is not master of man. Man is born pure and innocent, dowered with capacity to become God-like. Sin is a weak will. Man can overcome sin and effect his salvation through character. The Atonement Day invites man to recognize his shortcomings and sins, repent by the assertion of his will, make his peace with his maker, and his fellowmen, and begin a new life, whose doings may reflect the better view and will.

God is the Father; all men are His children. "As a father pitieth his children so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him." As a child of God, man is certain of his Father's forgiving mercy. "Reliance on Him deceiveth not." "A broken and a contrite heart God will not despise." Yom Kippur offers the divine hand of forgiveness to those who humbly return to God.

In Scriptural times, the High Priest on this day made a triple atonement; "for himself, his household and for the people." This, however, must not be understood in the sense of priestly mediation between God and man. The fact that the High Priest was himself compelled to make atonement for his own sins is conclusive evidence that he could not act as intercessor for the people. Man himself can effect Atonement with his Maker by breaking with his sinful past and consecrating the new life to virtue and rectitude.

The Day of Atonement expiates sins between man and his maker, but for sins between man and man the coalition precedent to atonement is the redress of the injury" (Talmud, Yoma 85, 2). Man must be reconciled with the neighbor he has wronged before he can ask pardon of God.

Atonement is effected by humbling oneself before God in sincere penitence, in abstaining from all worldly pursuits and pleasures, by a day of devout devotion, and thus fully feel the grief of sin and the beauty and holiness of the correct life. "Seek ye the Lord while He may be found, call ye upon Him while He is near. Let the wicked forsake His way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts, and let him return unto the Lord, and He will have mercy upon him and unto God, for He will abundantly pardon." (Isaiah 55, 6, 7).

The devout Jew spends the entire day in the synagogue. "For a day in thy courts is better than a thousand elsewhere." A memorial service in memory of the departed, including the great servants of humanity, forms an important part of the solemn atonement service.

D. L. Talkington, Well Known Smith, Dies

D. L. Talkington, aged 45 years, for a number of years employed here as a blacksmith at the A. J. Reynolds barns, died Sunday at his home on View street after a several weeks' illness. Several years ago Mr. Talkington was injured in an accident when the buggy in which he was riding overturned and fell over a bank. He had never fully recovered from the effects of the injuries received though had remained actively at work until recently. The deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ever Talkington, prominent Marion county residents, and was born on February 16, 1872. He came to this city to reside thirteen years ago, coming here from McClelland, Marion county. He is survived by his wife, who was formerly Miss Maude Pitzer and two children, Mrs. Harry Bartholow and Fred D. Talkington, both of this city. One brother, Alva Talkington, and three sisters, Mrs. Festus Toothman, Mrs. Clyde Crandall and Mrs. Harry Reeder, also survive.

Mr. Talkington was a man of splendid qualities and his death has caused the deepest sorrow in the home and among a wide circle of friends.

Funeral services are announced to be held on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock from the residence and the body will be taken to Bethel Chapel where services will also be held and interment made.

Guest of Miss Hurst. Miss Betty Fowles, of Oakland, Pittsburgh, is the guest for the week of Miss Mary Moulds Hurst on Be noni avenue. She will return home next Sunday accompanied by Miss Hurst who will re-enter the Winchester school for girls in the East End.
